Advancing good design in mental health settings

Design in Mental Health is the event that brings together professionals and lived-experience experts from around the world to learn about, share and challenge every aspect of good design in mental health settings.

This dynamic event combining a series of interactive formats is the ideal environment for expanding knowledge, deepening understanding and exploring solutions around the mental health built-environment.

Attendees come from all disciplines, including architecture, design, clinical, health planning, capital projects, estates & facilities, contracting, academia, product manufacture and more. All those involved in the design and delivery of spaces for mental health are welcome and encouraged to attend.
